FOR FURTHER INFORMATION AND READING:

This website presents information on the health benefits that may be attributed to the moderate and responsible consumption of wine. This information is provided as a service to the public with all information coming from third party sources. It is for educational purposes only and should not be used for advertising or marketing purposes or as a substitute for professional medical advice. Cheers to You support the responsible and moderate consumption of wine, but does not advocate non-drinkers begin drinking for the health benefits associated with wine. The abuse or over-consumption of wine or any other alcoholic beverage increases the risk of short and long term harm to health and should be avoided. Please enjoy our product in moderation and drink responsibly.
